Our Mission

We believe our organization will be successful if we continuously evolve and organize our collective document management experiences, resources and intellectual capital and transfer this knowledge to our clients.

Our organization has a keen ability to examine a client's infrastructure and uncover areas of exposure. We don't try to force products or services on our clients and we don't make recommendations for the sake of getting the sale.

Our Process

ASSESS AND OPTIMIZE

The first benefit you'll see is cost savings—as much as 30% on total document costs. By printing for less, and printing less, you'll also support your sustainability goals.

SECURE AND INTEGRATE

As your MPS strategy matures, you'll be able to do more, like improve document security and support mobile workers who need to print. Our approach integrates onto your existing IT environment and network with minimal disruption, so Managed Print Services (MPS) becomes a more welcome part of your business, creating greater efficiency. Evolv has the bandwidth and strength to support integration and document security on a global scale. That's critical for large enterprises

AUTOMATE AND SIMPLIFY

Migrating customers to higher levels of print and document management maturity, including converting paper-based workflows to digital and re-engineering processes for greater efficiencies, is the third stage of next-generation Managed Print Services (MPS). We offer services and technology that take workflow automation beyond just scanning and digitising paper documents into real business transformation. Once we optimise your workflow, we stay engaged with services, dashboards, content management and other innovations to keep your workflow efficient and secure.

Transform your print infrastructure into a platform for delivering precise information

The first step is optimizing the output infrastructure. Our industry's specific assessments will take your company quickly from discovery to rollout with placement of smart multifunction products (MFPs) in the right places based on the worker and the job at hand. Intuitive icon-driven processes can be initiated right from the MFP touch screen, creating a bridge between the necessary hard copy and your core business processes.

At Evolv, we've moved far beyond the box. Our people bring innovative, real-world solutions to help you cut costs, streamline operations, control your output environment, secure your documents, and reduce your environmental footprint. If there's one thing every business and our planet can use right now, it's managing to do more with less.

Our trained professionals will provide an onsite walk-through of your offices and a complete inventory of your fleet of document equipment.
